INTRODUCTION

The publication “Evolution of Private Law – new approach” is an effect of the international cooperation between the Department of Commercial Law at the Faculty of Law and Administration at the University of Silesia and representatives of foreign university departments of private law from Czech Republic, Slovakia, Italy and Ukraine. It continues the collective publications, edited 2014 and 2015. The cooperation resulted also in organizing two international conferences held at the Faculty of Law and Administration in Katowice. As in previous years also this year’s edition of the conference will take place in Katowice.

The wide formula of the academic cooperation embraces an analysis of the new trends in company law, contract law and other branches of private law, therefore this publication examines different aspects of the evolution of private law and allows the authors to present their opinions.

This year’s edition is dedicated to the new approach of the legal regulations concerning private law in the European Union in comparison to the law systems in other European countries. A broad range of authors, academics from Polish and foreign universities alike, contributes substantially to strengthening the comparative law research.

This publication is dedicated primarily for civil law academics but it also addresses the issues relevant to the legal practice. Most of the articles can be useful in the didactic process at law studies as well.
